

The Mermaid

WRITTEN AND ILLUSTRATED BY SANDRA CARPENTER
AGE 11, RIDGEFIELD, CONNECTICUT

The water rippled softly around her as she glided through the water brushing against the dancing waves. Her hair magically blew and twirled in the tide even though there was no wind blowing it. Her scaly shimmering tail reflected lights and sparkled with the colors of the rainbow. The tail whipped around and its fins flapped her through the water faster than the speed of a submarine. Beautiful aquatic life swam around her and played happily in the sea spray. Seaweed swayed on the ocean floor and sea horses galloped across the sand. A cool tide swept over them like a breeze going by on a blazing summer day. Suddenly, the dazzling mermaid pulls herself onto a tall rock and watches the shore in front of her. Soon after, she flicks her tail and disappears quicker than she came. She was only there for a moment, but a special, wondrous second. Then the enchanting girl swims into the dark of the deep azure sea and is gone...