

The Ocean and I

I hear the light crashing sound,
Upon the sandy beach,
The shells get wiped away,
I feel, hear, smell, touch,
The morning dew and fog.

I touch a toe,
Into the early waves,
I do not mind,
I do not feel,
I'm used to it already.

WRITTEN BY EMILY JOBSON
AGE 9, LINCOLN, NEBRASKA

ILLUSTRATED BY AMANDA GOLDBERG
AGE 7, IRVINGTON, NEW YORK